Mill Hill has excellent views across the Adur river valley, providing a great place for exploring and watching wildlife.

As an open access area you can take in the views from the top or explore the chalk grassland on the steep slope cut by the river centuries ago. Binoculars are a must.

Mill Hill Local Nature Reserve is important for its wildlife habitats, in particular chalk grassland. It has over half of the British butterfly species and 160 different species of plant. One of its more notable residents is the rare Adonis Blue butterfly whose caterpillar feasts on horseshoe vetch. In May the main slope of Mill Hill is a sea of yellow as this plant comes into flower.

From this hill you can see some local landmarks, as well as the curves and valleys of the South Downs. On the other side of the valley you can see Lancing College with its 19th century gothic Chapel. To the south, Shoreham Airport stretches out across the coastal plain.

The river Adur begins south of Horsham and winds its way down to the coast at Shoreham. It is tidal and becomes particularly interesting at mid-tide when the mud flats appear, attracting lots of birdlife. Look out for ringed plovers, lapwings and little egrets.

LONG DISTANCE ROUTES

SOUTH DOWNS WAY
The South Downs Way (SDW) is a 100 mile (160km) long-distance off-road National Trail which runs the entire length of the South Downs National Park. Providing stunning views across patchwork fields, rolling hills and to the south-east coastline, this route connects Winchester, the Saxon capital of England, with the white cliffs of Eastbourne.

MONARCH’S WAY
This long distance path is based on the lengthy route taken by King Charles II during his escape after defeat by Cromwell in the final battle of the Civil War at Worcester in 1651. Now 615 miles in length it is the longest inland trail within England, running through Stratford upon Avon, the Cotswolds, Mendips and the south coast from Charmouth to Shoreham-by-Sea.

THE REST AND BE THANKFUL STONE

Rest And Be thankful" is the name of a stone that sits along the track between Southwick and Thunders Barrow. It is a block of sarsen stone measuring roughly three feet square and two feet high, and makes an excellent seat – which is probably how it got its name.

It is thought that this stone was originally part of Southwick Church. When the Church wall was widened in the 19th century, the stone was brought here to act as one of the boundary stones along the trackway and now offers a place for weary walkers to take the weight off their feet.

DOWNS LINK: This 37-mile route follows the disused railway line from Guildford to Shoreham-by-Sea and is used by walkers, cyclists and horse riders. Visit westsussex.gov.uk for more information.

Discover breathtaking views from the South Downs to the coast.

1. Head north along the road from the bus stop at Dacre Gardens. On the east side of the road, opposite the car park, take the South Downs Way up to Beeding Hill.

2. Take the bridleway at the bend of the road, heading southeast.

3. At the end of the bridleway turn right at the T-junction and head south towards Southwick Hill.

4. Continue on the bridleway through the Open Access land to Southwick Hill. (If you have time, explore the area and take in the views down to the coast.)

5. Continue on the bridleway over the tunnel. At the fork in the road, go right and travel down past the dew pond towards North Southwick.

6. Upon reaching the houses, follow Upper Kingston Lane down to Old Shoreham Road to the bus stop.
